CHANNY CHHOEUN

Channy was born in 1988 in the Battambang province of Cambodia. His passion for arts started from his childhood. Channy's father rapidly witnessed his son's talent and sent him to Phare Ponleu Selpak in 2006, a Cambodian non-profit arts school. Ten years later, Channy had his first solo exhibition in Siem Reap, which turned out to be a huge success.

In his paintings, he associates both the beauty of nature – and the need to protect it, to what seems to be a social element out of control. Channy uses birds as an excuse to criticize the drifts of our society and to support what he conveys. Channy hopes to educate people, and he urges us to start protecting the planet before it's too late and reflect on the excesses of our society.
